

Ana María Silva Alonso

PhD Candidate in Economics · Universidad de Alcalá

ana.silva@uah.es | ana.silva.alonso2@gmail.com

ORCID: 0009-0002-9472-6592 | anasilvaalonso.github.io

Research Interests

Labor Economics, Demography, Immigration, Public Policy, Impact Evaluation of Labor Market Reforms.

Education

- PhD in Economics, Universidad de Alcalá 2023–2026 (in progress)
Dissertation: Essays on impact evaluation of labour market reforms using administrative data.
Supervisors: José María Arranz Muñoz & Carlos García-Serrano.
- Master's Degree in Applied Economic Analysis, Universidad de Alcalá 2020–2021
- BA in Economics, Universidad Rey Juan Carlos 2016–2020
Outstanding Graduate Award (Premio Extraordinario de Fin de Grado) for best academic record of the cohort.

Research Experience

- Predoctoral Researcher (FPI-CAM Fellowship), Universidad de Alcalá 2023–present
Research on labor market reforms and public policy using administrative data.
Funded by the Comunidad de Madrid through the Becas de Formación del Personal Investigador.
- Visiting Researcher, San Diego State University (California, USA) Sep–Dec 2025
Host: Catalina Amuedo-Dorantes.
- Research Assistant, Instituto de Estudios Fiscales (IEF) 2021–2023
Department of Public Economics and Finance.
Data analysis, policy evaluation reports, and support in public policy assessment.

Publications

1. Silva, A.M., Arranz, J.M. & García-Serrano, C. (2026). Unemployment benefits and job finding: Evidence from Spain's policy reforms across the business cycle. International Journal of Manpower. <https://doi.org/10.1108/IJM-10-2025-0855>
 2. Silva, A.M., Arranz, J.M. & García-Serrano, C. (2026). Evaluating the impact of the large 2019 increase in the Spanish minimum wage on job retention and employment. Humanities and Social Sciences Communications. <https://doi.org/10.1057/s41599-026-07652-8>
 3. Silva, A.M., Arranz, J.M. & García-Serrano, C. (2026) The impact of the minimum wage on gross employment flows: An analysis at province level in Spain. International Labour Review, forthcoming.
- Book Chapters*
4. Silva, A.M. (2023). La política fiscal como instrumento para la cohesión social en la era post-COVID: Tendencias en América Latina. EuroSocial Series No. 35, Cyan, Proyectos Editoriales, S.A.

Work in Progress

1. Amuedo-Dorantes, C., Arranz, J.M. & Silva, A.M. Immigrants and Spain's minimum income: Eligibility, use and dependence.

2. Arranz, J.M., García-Serrano, C. & Silva, A.M. Do more contracts mean less in-work poverty? Evaluating Spain's 2021 labour market reform.

Grants and Funding

- Predoctoral Fellowship (FPI-CAM), Comunidad de Madrid — Formación del Personal Investigador. 2023–2026
- Research Project: Evaluación del impacto de la modificación de las cuantías de las prestaciones contributivas por desempleo (2012 y 2023), Instituto de Estudios Fiscales. 2025–2026
- Research Project: Estudio sobre trabajadores en situación de pobreza, Ministerio de Derechos Sociales, Consumo y Agenda 2030. 2024–2025

Conference Presentations

- Does a Minimum Wage Hike Reduce Low-Wage Employment? An Impact Evaluation of the Large 2019 Increase in Spain.
25th Applied Economics Meeting, Toledo (2023); 31st Public Economics Meeting, Pamplona (2024); XVI Labour Economics Meeting, Barcelona (2024); II Workshop in Public Economics, Segovia (2024, invited).
- The impact of the minimum wage on gross employment flows: An analysis with aggregate data at province level in Spain.
XVII Labour Economics Meeting, Oviedo (2025); 27th Applied Economics Meeting, Murcia (2025).

Awards and Distinctions

- Outstanding Graduate Award (Premio Extraordinario de Fin de Grado), BA in Economics, Universidad Rey Juan Carlos. 2020
- Beca Luis Toharia, Asociación Española de Economía del Trabajo (AEET) 2026
Awarded to doctoral researchers for the relevance and scientific quality of the work presented at the XVIII Jornadas de Economía Laboral.

Additional Training

- Labour Econometrics; Public Policy Evaluation; Data Analysis with R; Geographic Information Systems applied to Economics; Panel Data Methods.

Languages

- Spanish: native.
- English: advanced.